

#BeOurFuture – Finance Edition

Are you a talented student interested in Business, Finance and Economics?

Don't miss the chance to join the biggest biotech company in the world: Roche is waiting for you to take part in an international competition!

You will have the opportunity to challenge yourself working intensively with students from major Italian Universities along with Roche Managers.

The most successful participants will have the opportunity to start an internship from June / July 2022 in Roche Italy's Finance teams, having the chance to work directly with product teams on strategic initiatives and business activities, experimenting the agile way of working, as well as take part in specific trainings all throughout the internship.

Who you are

- University background in Finance, Management, Business, Statistics, Economics;
- Excellent knowledge of English, both written and spoken (C1 level); basic knowledge of Italian language would be considered a plus;
- Previous international experience, for studies (i.e. Erasmus project) or for internships;
- Interest for Biotech sector;
- Great team player, an open mind and passion for continuous learning in agile contexts.

Application process

- Applications open today and close on Friday, May 13th;
- Candidates will then participate in an individual online challenge;
- Kick-off event will be during the week of the 23rd of May (virtual) – you will get to know directly to Roche and its people and will start working on small business cases in groups;
- Assessment days will be during the last week of May 2022.
